ABSTRACT

This is the handbook/directory of the Association for Intercollegiate Athletics for Women (AIAW). It begins with an introduction which discusses the history, structure, and membership of the AIAW. Next are lists of executive board members, headquarters staff, and members of committees. The constitution, bylaws, and code of ethics of the AIAW are presented in the following sections. Rules and questions concerning recruitment of student athletes are included as well as AIAW regulations for the awarding of financial aide. The following sections concern AIAW eligibility rules, rule infractions, and AIAW policies. The final sections present a position paper on intercollegiate athletics for women, and a position statement concerning women on men's teams. The appendix includes a schedule of national championships, information on local organizations and regions, sports council members, tournament sites, forms, special publications, a directory of AIAW member institutions, and a sport listing. INTRODUCTION

HISTORY

The Association for Intercolleigate Athletics for Women (AIAW) was formally organized in 1971-72. It replaced the Commission on Intercollegiate Athletics for Women (CIAW) which originated in 1967. This Commission established the national championships and encouraged organization of colleges and universities and/or organizations of women physical educators to govern intercollegiate competition for women at the local, state and regional level.

The AIAW provides a governing body and leadership for initiating and maintaining standards of excellence in women's intercollegiate athletic programs. In addition the AIAW conducts seven national championships. It is anticipated that championships for small colleges as well as more junior/community college championships will be added in the future.

Colleges and universities are encouraged to actively support the AIAW through membership if (1) they subscribe to the belief that the focus of women's intercollegiate athletics should remain on the individual participant in the primary role as college student, and (2) they support the policies under which such programs have been conducted by the NAGWS (formerly DGWS), CIAW and AIAW.

STRUCTURE

The Association for Intercollegiate Athletics for Women will continue to guide AIAW national championships; give assistance to regional and local governing groups; and implement at the national level, the use of policies established by AIAW.

Officers of AIAW elected by member institutions include: president-elect, commissioner of junior/community college national championships, commissioner of national championships, ethics and eligibility chairperson, and treasurer. In addition, for 1975-76 three representatives are elected from each of the nine regions by member schools from that region, one representing large colleges, small colleges and junior/community colleges. (Candidates must be faculty members at active member institutions.) The president-elect serves one year in that position, one year as president, and one year as past president. All other officers serve for two years.

The following committees have been appointed for 1975-76; nominating, ethics and eligibility, constitution and bylaws, handbook, sport committees, archivist, research committee and delegate assembly.

MEMBERSHIP

Classes

Active Member

1. The institution is an accredited college or university of higher education in the United States or its territories.[1]

2. The institution provides an intercollegiate athletic program for women.

[1] Institutions in the process of becoming accredited that have "correspondent" or "candidacy" status are eligible for membership.

3. The institution is willing to abide by the policies as stated in the AIAW Handbook and in the operating code.

4. The institution is required to join the appropriate regional organization.

AIAW recognizes the following as the official organizations of regional governance:

Region	1	Eastern (EAIAW)
	A	Northeast
	B	Mid-Atlantic
Region	2	Southern
Region	3	Southeastern
Region	4	Southwest
Region	5	Midwest (MAIAW)
Region	6	"Region 6" AIAW
Region	7	Intermountain
Region	8	Western (WAIAW)
Region	9	Northwest College Women's Sports Association (NCWSA)

Any group may petition the national organization to change the name used at present. Any institution which wishes to apply for a change in regional assignment should follow the procedure outlined in the appendix, page 76.

Associate Member

The college or university is willing to subscribe to the policies stated in the Handbook.

Affiliate Member

Affiliate membership is open to any organization not eligible for active or associate membership but interested in supporting AIAW.

Membership applications may be obtained from the AIAW Program Assistant, 1201 Sixteenth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C. 20036.

FEES, SERVICES AND DEADLINES

The official membership year is from September 15, 1975 to September 14, 1976. The deadline date for all memberships and membership benefits shall be November 15.* After this date an institution may join AIAW but will be ineligible to participate in national championships for that year. Since mail in general is no longer postmarked, it may be necessary to ask the post office to hand stamp the mailing envelope for verification of the date the membership application was mailed.

In the event that the check for payment of dues cannot be secured by the deadline date, receipt of the membership application shall constitute membership. If payment does not follow by May 1 of that academic year, the institution will be ineligible for entry in national championships the following year. Past unpaid dues must accompany that institution's renewal application for membership. Any AIAW awards received by the institution during the year in which dues are unpaid by May 1 must be returned.

An institution may join the Association as an active or associate member and must retain that membership status for the remainder of the fiscal year.

*Note: By AIAW Executive Board action, the 1976-77 membership year shall be May 1, 1976-April 30, 1977.

A membership shall be considered lapsed if an institution fails to renew its membership. To terminate the lapse and rejoin, the institution is required to pay both the prior year's dues (reinstatement fee) and the current year's dues. An institution changing membership categories will pay a reinstatement fee equal to the dues of the lower category. A member which allows active membership to lapse shall not be eligible for national championships during the year of reinstatement.

Only active member institutions may enter participants in the national championships. Regional membership is required for membership in the national AIAW.* Failure to meet the regional deadline or the national deadline will cause a school to be ineligible for national championships during that year.

Active Member

Membership fee is $150. Payment of the membership fee shall entitle the institution to:

1. One vote in the association.
2. Two copies of the Handbook/Directory.
3. Opportunity for participation at AIAW national championships.
4. Newsletters and informational material.
5. Attendance at coaches and athletic directors' meetings.
6. Other services determined by the membership.

*Note: Regional membership deadlines are often at an earlier date than AIAW. Please check with the appropriate regional representative for the specific deadline.

Associate Member

Membership fee is $75. Payment of the membership fee shall entitle the institution to:

1. Voice, but no vote, in the Association.
2. One copy of the Handbook/Directory.
3. Newsletters and informational material.
4. Attendance at coaches and athletic directors' meetings at AIAW national championships upon payment of a registration fee.
5. Other services determined by the membership.

AIAW CODE OF ETHICS*

The purpose of the AIAW Code of Ethics is to provide a means of assisting personnel and students of AIAW member institutions to identify ethical conduct in intercollegiate sports and to encourage those involved to pursue actions which are appropriate. The Code is not intended to be enforceable rules of conduct, the violation of which would require disciplinary action by AIAW, but rather is a guide for all concerned to apply in various aspects of sport programs. The Code of Ethics cannot be all inclusive but it does identify many areas of concern. AIAW encourages everyone involved to continue to identify and pursue conduct which promotes dignity in sport.

CODE OF ETHICS FOR COACHES

One of the purposes of intercollegiate athletics is to provide experiences and opportunities for players to develop socially acceptable and personally fulfilling values and characteristics. Competitive sports provide practice opportunities in making value judgments and developing social relationships which will help to determine desirable behavior and personal qualities. A coach has the unique opportunity to influence players in selecting and developing their personal values and desirable qualities. The philosophy, attitude, and behavior of the coach should exemplify quality human characteristics.

The coach should recognize the uniqueness and worth of each individual and help her to develop confidence, exhibit cooperation, and make a contribution to herself and others around her. Many experiences shared by the coach and player happen under stressful competitive circumstances which require maturity and experience to cope with them. These experiences provide teachable moments in which the coach should share her good judgment and show understanding and control which will influence the reactions of players, spectators, opponents, and the officials associated with the game.

A coach also has a responsibility to provide the information and training necessary for her players to achieve the highest degree of excellence for which they have potential. She also has a responsibility to promote sports and perpetuate the understanding of sports in our society. A basic part of this is the understanding and performance of the game in the true spirit of sport.

Ethical considerations for the coach:

1. Respect each player as a special individual with unique needs, experience, and characteristics and develop this understanding and respect among the players.

* The AIAW Code of Ethics was approved by mail vote of AIAW membership, May, 1974.

2. Have pride in being a good example of a coach in appearance, conduct, language, and sportsmanship, and teach the players the importance of these standards.

3. Demonstrate and instill in players a respect for and courtesy toward opposing players, coaches and officials.

6. Teach players to play within the spirit of the game and the letter of the rules.

7. Develop understanding among players, stressing a spirit of team play. Encourage qualities of self-discipline, cooperation, self-confidence, leadership, courtesy, honesty, initiative and fair play.

8. Provide for the welfare of the players by:

   a. Scheduling appropriate practice periods,
   b. Providing safe transportation,
   c. Scheduling appropriate number of practice and league games,

15. Be knowledgeable in aspects of the sport to provide an appropriate level of achievement for her players. Have a goal of quality play and excellence. Know proper fundamentals, strategy, safety factors, training and conditioning principles, and an understanding of rules and officiating.

16. Attend workshops, clinics, classes, and institutes to keep abreast and informed of current trends and techniques of the sport.

17. Obtain membership and be of service in organizations and agencies which promote the sport and conduct competitive opportunities.

18. Use common sense and composure in meeting stressful situations and in establishing practice and game schedules which are appropriate and realistic in terms of demands on player's time and physical condition.

19. Conduct practice opportunities which provide appropriate preparation to allow the players to meet the competitive situation with confidence.

20. Require medical examinations for all players prior to the sports season and follow the medical recommendations for those players who have a history of medical problems or who have sustained an injury during the season.

21. Cooperate with administrative personnel in establishing and conducting a quality athletic program.

22. Accept opportunities to host events and conduct quality competition.

23. Contribute constructive suggestions to the governing association for promoting and organizing competitive experiences.

24. Show respect and appreciation for tournament personnel and offer assistance where appropriate.

25. Be present at all practices and competitions. Avoid letting other appointments interfere with the scheduled team time. Provide time to meet the needs of the individual players.

26. Encourage spectators to display conduct of respect and hospitality toward opponents and officials and to recognize good play and sportsmanship. When inappropriate crowd action occurs the coach should assist in curtailing the crowd reactions.

CODE OF ETHICS FOR PLAYERS

The purpose of Intercollegiate Athletics is to provide an opportunity for the participant to develop her potential as a skilled performer in an educational setting.

As education seeks to provide ways in which each may know herself and grow emotionally, socially and intellectually, so does the intercollegiate athletic program. In addition, the participant has the opportunity to travel, represent her school and learn the art of being a team member. All this gain is not without sacrifice, for the player may lose some individual rights and privileges as she accepts the policies of the program when she becomes a member of the team.

Ethical Considerations for the Player:

1. Maintain personal habits which enhance healthful living.
2. Objectively acknowledge one's own strengths and weaknesses. Recognize that each person has his own strengths and weaknesses--praise the strengths and help to strengthen weaknesses.
3. Value one's personal integrity.

25. Seek to know and understand one's teammates.

26. Place primary responsibility to the team rather than to self.

27. Refrain from partaking of drugs which would enhance performance or modify mood or behavior at any time during a season unless prescribed by a physician for medical purposes.

28. Refrain from partaking of alcoholic beverages while representing one's school.

CODE OF ETHICS FOR ADMINISTRATORS

The purpose of the women's intercollegiate program is to provide competition for highly skilled women who have come to the institution for both educational and athletic opportunities. The initial guidance and example must come from the chief administrator of the athletic program. The primary aim of the administrator is to foster ethical practices of behavior which will accomplish and fulfill goals of wholesome and desirable experiences for all individuals in the program.

Ethical Considerations for the Administrator:

1. Hire coaches or assign coaching duties to personnel who are qualified and interested in the particular sport.

2. Insist that players and coaches abide by and adhere to the rules and regulations set forth by organizations of which the institution is a member.

3. Strive to obtain the services of a full-time Athletic Trainer and Team Physician.

4. Encourage coaches to become knowledgable in the prevention and immediate care of athletic injuries.

   a. Assuring that health forms are completed for all players prior to participation.
   b. Assuring that some form of medical insurance covers each player for the duration of a season.

6. Reflect support of the intercollegiate program to both players and coaches through personal actions and, when possible, through presence at athletic events.

7. Strive to obtain adequate funds for the intercollegiate program and disperse such funds to the various sports in a fair and equitable manner. There should be no designation of major and minor sports.

8. Make provisions for the budgeting of qualified officials.

9. Seek approval for the use of adequate facilities for practices and competition and assure that teams are supplied with quality equipment.

10. Strive to gain release of class time and/or compensation for personnel who have coaching duties; and to seek approval for the hiring of additional personnel if the size of the program warrants.

16. Continually evaluate existing policies regarding operation of the intercollegiate program and, with input from coaches and players, initiate action to improve and strengthen the program.

CODE OF ETHICS FOR OFFICIALS

It is the responsibility of the official to enforce the letter and spirit of the rules in order to maintain the quality of competition necessary to achieve the goal of excellence, as well as, to protect the health and welfare of each participant.

The official commands respect by her appearance, voice and actions. It is her attitude toward questions, criticisms, and varying situations and the manner in which she exhibits control which ultimately influences the tone and atmosphere of the game.

Courtesy, respect, and understanding breed a similar attitude, among coaches, players, and spectators. The official serves in the capacity of an arbitrator; the successful fulfillment of this role lies in the promotion of quality competition through a thorough knowledge of the game, an attitude of impartiality, and the creation of a positive atmosphere. In this sense, the attributes of the official become a very vital and indispensable aspect of every game situation.

Ethical Considerations for the Official:

1. Maintain the highest standards of honesty and integrity, making decisions without deference to team, score, spectators or home facility.

2. Maintain an objective view, keeping the game within the spirit of the rules without imposing one's own philosophical beliefs upon the participants.

3. Maintain consistency in interpreting and enforcing the rules.

4. Exhibit a thorough knowledge of the rules and a willingness to interpret rules and clarify decisions.

5. Seek to maintain the differences between the philosophy of NAGWS and that of other organizations by interpreting and enforcing the rules properly.

12. Always wear the proper uniform and be neatly and appropriately attired.

13. Consistently seek to improve one's own abilities by attending rules discussions and interpretation clinics.

14. Recognize and seek to fulfill her role in the development of player's, coach's, and spectator's attitudes toward sport.

15. Provide opportunity for players to react honestly concerning the rules by acknowledging those infractions in which it may be difficult for an official to determine fair play.

CODE OF ETHICS FOR SPECTATORS

Winning is often so important that some people have lost sight of the educational values inherent in athletics. If the full benefit of athletics as an educational tool is to be utilized, colleges and universities must immediately concern themselves with spectator sportsmanship.

The playing of the game should be regarded by the spectators as an art, and should be appreciated and enjoyed as such. Respect for all players, coaches, and officials, regardless of their own team loyalty is essential for raising the standards of good sportsmanship.

Ethical Considerations for the Spectators:

1. Recognize the official as a person of integrity and qualification, and respect the decisions accordingly.

2. Refrain from creating disturbances which would be detrimental to the flow of the game and/or to the safety of the participants involved.

3. Refrain from harrassment, profane language or ostentatious behavior in respect to players and coaches.

4. Become familiar with the rules of the game in order to enjoy it more and to understand the decisions made by the officials.

5. Exhibit respect for the local policies and regulations regarding the usage of athletic facilities.

6. Exhibit team loyalities and support without negative action toward their opponents or officials of the game.

Disciplinary action shall be deferred to that institution.

None of the principles or policies should be construed to pertain to any scholarship program designed to apply comprehensively to an entire student body--a program in which students involved with and those not involved with intercollegiate athletics are treated on the same basis.

 A student-athlete is defined as a student who is a member of an intercollegiate team or a student who has received a contract for financial aid as a result of athletic ability.

(see page 36) and realizes successful progress toward athletic potential through participation on the intercollegiate team in which the financial aid is awarded. If a student-athlete is injured and as a result cannot participate in the sport season for which financial aid is awarded but is otherwise eligible, the student shall not be denied financial aid for athletes.

Note: If aid is discontinued once awarded to a student-athlete a report should be filed with the regional representative, the Ethics and Eligibility Chairperson and the athletic director explaining the reason for the cancellation of the aid. After a campus review a student may report to the Ethics and Eligibility Committee when she believes that the school is not in compliance with AIAW Regulations.

Q. May a student whose financial aid was not renewed because of inadequate skill be immediately eligible for financial aid for an athlete following admission to another institution?

A. No. A student may be awarded a financial award for partial tuition.

Q. In renewing a student's financial aid for athletes, may a school decrease the amount of aid awarded to the returning student-athlete?

A. No. The amount must be the same or greater and may not be less than the amount received by the student the previous year. Institutions whose source of funds are not renewed may appeal for approval to decrease the amount of the award. All students on financial aid for student-athletes must be affected equally in any cutback.

3. A copy of the letter of intent must be filed at the AIAW national office in Washington D.C. by certified or registered mail. Return receipt requested.

4. An institution may not offer a high school student a letter of intent until that student's senior year.

5. Penalty for violation of letter of intent:

a. The student will not be eligible for financial aid for athletes until she has completed one year of normal progress at an institution.

b. The school may lose the privilege of using the AIAW letter of intent for a period to be determined by the Ethics and Eligibility Committee. Loss of the privilege of the letter of intent does not negate the schools privilege to offer financial aid under contract arrangement.

E. A complete copy of the AIAW Regulations for the Awarding of Financial Aid shall accompany the contract for financial aid for athletes.

F. A prospective student-athlete* who has signed a contract with one institution may not receive financial aid from another institution within the same year.

(One year of acceptable progress is defined as the equivalent of one academic year.)

Note: If a student-athlete has need to transfer to another institution, an appeal from the student and the school may be made to the Ethics and Eligibility Committee Chairperson.

Q. May a student who was not enrolled in courses equivalent to a full-time student at the former institution transfer and be eligible for financial aid for athletes at the institution to which the student transferred?

A. Yes. A student must have been enrolled for enough hours to have been eligible to play on a competitive team before the transfer rule would be in effect.

B. A student-athlete who has completed an AA degree or 2 years of normal progress as a full-time student as defined by that two-year institution shall be immediately eligible for financial aid for an athlete following admission to a four-year institution.

IV. LIMITATIONS OF FINANCIAL AID FOR ATHLETES

A. Value

1. Financial aid may be awarded for only tuition, fees, room and board. (This excludes such items as books, gifts, an allowance, laundry and tutoring services given to the student-athlete or the athlete's family.) Room and board is defined as the standard rates in universtiy dormitories at that institution, or a fair amount approved by the Ethics and Eligibility Committee if there is no on-campus housing available on that campus. Students may not be given money to cover their normal expenses for room and board when these expenses are not actually incurred.

Q. May a student athlete be loaned books by the institution?

A. Yes. Financial aid may not be awarded for books, however, a loan system in which the student is loaned books owned by the institution is permissable as no funds are given to the student.

Q. If a student lives at home or off-campus, may a student-athlete be given financial aid for room and board?

A. Yes. However, the financial aid may not exceed the standard rate in university dormitories at that institution.

Q. May a student be given tutorial services if this is a normal service of the university to all students?

A. Yes. Students may be allowed the same services offered to all other students.

Q. May a school provide funds for an enrolled student-athlete to attend a sport camp?

A. Yes. The current regulations do not prohibit this practice. This may be considered as an athletic program activity which may be funded in the same manner funds are provided for scheduled activities for a team.

2. Financial aid is to be awarded for a maximum of one academic year subject to renewal, not to exceed 4 years. If a student-athlete withdraws from school prior to the conclusion of the academic year, after the awarding of the financial aid, the unused funds may be awarded to another student-athlete for the unexpired term.

Q. How may the unused funds be used when a student-athlete withdraws from school prior to the conclusion of the school year?

A. The unused funds create a vacancy which may be filled by another student-athlete. This award would be a replacement for the previous award. A replacement award given to an on-campus student need not be automatically renewed.

3. Any student-athlete who receives financial aid other than that administered by the institution shall not be eligible for intercollegiate competition except where:

   (1) aid is received from anyone whom the student-athlete is naturally dependent or,
   (2) aid is awarded solely on basis having no relationship to athletic ability.

Q. Is an E. R. Moore scholarship or a state AHPER scholarship considered to be an athletic scholarship?

A. Even though athletic ability is a criterion for awarding these scholarships, they are not considered to be athletic scholarships and do not count in the total limit of athletic scholarships. All exceptions to this regulation, IV.A.3., must be approved by the Ethics and Eligibility Committee.

4. When a student's athletic ability is taken into consideration to any degree in awarding financial aid, such aid combined with that received from the usual sources for financial aid for athletes may not exceed the accepted educational expenses as defined in 1 above.

5. Each institution may determine the value of financial aid as long as it does not exceed tuition, fees, room and board.

B. Other Restrictions

1. Institutions may award financial aid for athletes only in those sports in which there is an active women's intercollegiate team for the year in which the financial aid is awarded. If for any reason the university withdraws the team, previous commitment to the student involved shall be honored for that year.

2. A student must participate in the sport in which the financial aid is awarded during that sport season. This is not intended to limit a student from participating in other intercollegiate athletic events during the sports seasons overlap. A school may make the decision as to whether a student may participate in concurrent or overlapping seasons.

3. Any type of financial aid (no matter what the source), granted to a student-athlete by the institution when the athletic ability is one of the criteria for granting the award, must be included in the total number of awards allowed for athletes in that sport.

Q. Does a student receiving an academic scholarship have to be counted in the quota of the number of students on financial aid?

A. No. Only those students receiving financial aid for which athletic ability is one of the criteria need be considered in the number of students on financial aid.

4. Approval for any type of financial aid designated for student-athletes other than those described herein must be referred to the Ethics and Eligibility Committee of AIAW.

5. Financial aid may not be issued for nor extended to include summer school.

Note: On behalf of a student, an institution may appeal for the student to be eligible for financial aid for athletes during the summer session. Appeals for summer school funds based on conditions which provide that the student has not received more than one academic year of financial aid during the school year, or that the student has justifiable educational pursuits, or that the student is accelerating pursuit of educational goals will be accepted.

Q. May a student select the semesters in which the financial aid will be used?

A. Yes, however, aid may not be awarded for more than two full semesters or three quarters in one academic year. Example: A student could choose to attend school for the second block of fall semester, winter semester and the first block of spring term of a tri-mester, thus receiving aid for two full semesters.

C. Schedule for Financial Aid for Athletes

The number of student-athletes on financial aid may not exceed that indicated in the following table:

	4 Year Institutions Max./Year	2 Year Institutions Max./Year
Basketball	12	12
Field Hockey (Soccer)	12	12
Gymnastics	12	12
Lacrosse	12	12

Archery	8	8
Badminton	8	8
Bowling	8	8
Crew	8	8
Fencing	8	8
Riflery	8	8
Skiing	8	8
Squash	8	8
Tennis	8	8

Q. Must a student on financial aid for field hockey who also plays on the softball team be counted in the total quota of the students on financial aid for softball?

A. No. Only those students who receive financial aid designated as an award for softball must be counted in the total quota for softball. However ,the student receiving financial aid for field hockey must be reported on the financial aid report form for softball.

Q. In determining the total number of student-athletes on financial aid for a sport, is a student-athlete on a partial financial award counted as one financial award?

A. Yes. Each student-athlete receiving financial aid, regardless of the amount of aid, is considered as one of the total quota for student-athletes on financial aid.

Note: If an institution wishes to offer financial aid for athletes in an intercollegiate sport not listed on the previous page, the voting representative shall obtain from the Ethics and Eligibility Committee Chairperson, the number of scholarships which may be awarded in the sport.

D. Implementation Procedure

A school already awarding financial aid to student-athelets may renew those students awards until that financial obligation is complete; new financial awards may not be added until the total number is less than the maximum number prescribed for that sport.

AIAW ELIGIBILITY RULES

A. ELIGIBILITY RULES FOR AIAW MEMBER INSTITUTIONS

1. An institution must be a member of an appropriate AIAW regional organization and of AIAW to participate in AIAW National Championships.

2. AIAW membership and eligibility requirements for AIAW National Championships as stated in the AIAW Handbook must be enforced at regional qualifying events.

3. All participants must have amateur status. Amateur status is maintained in a sport if a player has not received and does not receive money other than expenses as a participant in that sport. These expenses include lodging, meals, transportation and entry fee while participating in an intercollegiate event. Although the acceptance of officiating or coaching fees in excess of expenses has no effect on the eligibility for competition in AIAW events, these may jeopardize amateur status for open competition. Participants must check with each governing body since regulations are not the same for all sports. Acceptance of an athletic scholarship does not affect amateur status. (See Regulations for the Awarding of Financial Aid to Student-Athletes.) If a student enters a tournament which awards cash prizes, the student will not lose eligibility for competition in AIAW tournaments if the prize money is publicly donated to a charity, a school or other organization and is not used for personal gain.

(Note: Other organizations include NAGWS, AIAW, USCSC and AIAW Legal Assistance Fund.)

Q. May a student-athlete receive merchandise awards without affecting amateur status?

A. The value of any award including trophies, money or merchandise which exceeds the amount of allowable expenses incurred for that tournament or event must be valued at no more than ten dollars.

Q. May the expenses for participation in a sport be accumulated for a season and amateur status be determined by the total expenses and earnings?

A. No. Amateur status is based upon expenses and earnings per event.

Q. A student participates in a demonstration in which a professional also participates. Is the amateur status of the student affected?

A. No. AIAW has no tainting clause. If the student does not accept money for playing, amateur status is unaffected.

Q. A young woman has played a sport professionally and later decides to attend a university. Is she eligible for AIAW competition?

A. She may not compete in the sports in which she was a professional, however, she may participate in any other intercollegiate sport.

4. a. Only a woman student who is presently enrolled as a fulltime undergraduate in a college, junior college, or university, and who maintains the academic average required for participation in all other major campus activities at that institution, shall be eligible to participate. This does not limit an undergraduate student to undergraduate courses.

   b. A student in the final term who can graduate with less than a full load of course work shall be eligible to participate if the student carries enough hours to graduate. If the student has completed graduation requirements within the preceding semester, quarter, or trimester, has begun the sport season, and has met all other eligibility requirements for national championships, the student shall be eligible.

   c. If a student has completed the spring term within the preceding semester, quarter, or trimester and has met all other eligibility requirements for national championships, the student shall be eligible in the summer.

Q. Having graduated from a four year institution, a student returns to school to pursue another undergraduate degree. Is the student eligible for AIAW competition?

A. No. Once a student graduates from a 4-year institution, the student is no longer considered an undergraduate student.

Q. A senior competes as a member of the golf team throughout the season. The national championship for golf is held after the spring term concludes and following graduation. Is the student eligible?

A. Yes. The student met eligibility requirements during the preceding term and therefore is eligible. If the student graduated two terms prior to the event, the student would not be eligible.

5. A returning student-athlete must be making normal progress as defined by the institution in an established degree or certified program in terms of credit hours and grades for a fully matriculated student in that institution to be eligible. A transfer student is also required to continue normal progress toward graduation between seasons.

6. a. A student may not participate in a national championship in any given sport more than four times.

   b. A student may not have participated in more than four intercollegiate seasons of play in any one sport and remain eligible for an AIAW national championship in that sport. (A player who is injured during the season and has competed in no more than one quarter of the school's season will not have used a year of her eligibility.)

   c. Participation on a foreign collegiate team, on a non-AIAW school team, on a team at a non-accredited school or on a men's team counts as eligibility used toward a four-year total allotment.

Q. A student has participated for two years at a 2-year institution and returns to that school for additional study. May the student participate a third year at this 2-year institution?

A. Yes. The student has 4 years of eligibility for each sport and may apply them wherever the student attends school.

7. A student is eligible if she has participated on her institution's intercollegiate team during the majority of its recent season which includes a majority of practices and a majority of events. However, if the institution does not have an intercollegiate team in this student's specific sport, and the institution approves the student's participation, the student is eligible.

Note: An event is a competition held at one site regardless of the number of games or matches played. A season commences with the beginning of practice following team try-outs and ends with the final regularly scheduled competition prior to the competition which serves as a qualifying event for AIAW Championships. A student is a member of a team when the student's name is entered on the roster for the first event. Being a member of a team constitutes a year of eligibility.

Q. A player participates in a majority of the practice session and participates as a member of the "B" team (a team other than the first team) in a majority of the games. Is the student eligible?

A. Yes. The student has been participating in practice sessions and events during a majority of the season.

Q. A player competes on one team, e.g., basketball, throughout its season and joins another team, e.g., golf, during its season at the same institution. Is the student eligible to compete on the golf team?

A. Although this practice is not encouraged, she would be eligible if she is able to participate in a majority of the team's practices and the majority of the events.

Q. A player participates in a majority of the practice sessions and in less than a majority of contests during the regular season. By competing in the state and regional tournaments, the player competes in a majority of the total games for the season. Is the player eligible?

A. Yes, however, to be eligible for state or regional events the player must meet their eligibility requirements.

Q. A player is injured during tryouts or during the initial part of the particular sport season. The player is unable to practice or compete until well after the majority of the season is completed, thereby participating in less than the majority of the practices and events. Is the player eligible for the national championship?

A. No. However, the rule concerning participation in the majority of the season is not intended to restrict unnecessarily an individual who is unable to compete because of illness or injury. Requests for exceptions to this ruling should be directed to the Ethics and Eligibility Chairperson. A player must be encouraged to recover from illness or injury completely before resuming activity.

Q. A player has participated in a majority of the practice sessions during the season. The player has never played in a contest during the season but has been listed on the roster and has been on the bench as a substitute for a majority of the events. Is the player eligible?

A. Yes. The player is considered to be a participant by involvement as a substitute and ready to enter the event if called upon. The player has also used one of her season of eligibility.

8. When a college has both a men's and a women's team, a woman should be required to make a choice as to which team to compete on; and only those women who are members on the women's team shall be eligible for the AIAW national championship. A woman who is a member of the women's team should be permitted to work out with the men's team without penalty as long as she meets the minimum requirements to be eligible as a member of the women's team. However, she could not compete as a member of the men's team without losing her eligibility for AIAW national championships. However, if a college does not have a women's team, a woman who competes on the men's team shall be eligible for AIAW national championships.

Q. A student chooses to swim with the men's team one year although a women's team exists. May she swim with the women's team the following year?

A. Yes, provided the student is otherwise eligible.

9. A transfer student is immediately eligible for participation following enrollment in a member institution provided that the student meets other eligibility requirements. (See Regulations for Awarding Financial Aid to Student-Athletes.)

Q. A student transfers to another institution and wishes to participate in a sport. Is the student eligible if the season is already in progress?

A. The policies of the school to which the student transfers determine whether that student can participate during the remainder of the season. If the institution rules the student eligible, the student will be eligible to participate in the AIAW event, providing she meets all AIAW eligibility requirements and she is able to participate in the majority of the practices and events.

10. The regular season for sports may vary in different regions of the country. If an institution's regular season in a sport does not occur in the same term in which the national championship is held, eligibility must be based on the participant's status during the term in which the championship is held.

Q. A team completes its regular season in one term. The championship tournament is held in a later term. A player who was eligible throughout the regular season becomes ineligible during the later term (for example, the student no longer is fulltime, or becomes academically ineligible). Is the student eligible?

A. No. The player must be eligible during the term in which the championship is held. (Exception: a student who completed the spring term or graduated in the previous term and was eligible and participating as a team member during that preceding term is eligible.)

Q. A season extends over two terms and the player is academically ineligible to participate during the first term. The player becomes eligible academically for the second term. Is the player eligible to compete?

A. Yes, if the player meets other eligibility requirements and is able to participate in the majority of practices and a majority of the events.

11. When an individual or team must qualify through a regional event, only those individuals who so qualify are eligible for the national championship. (This includes all individual members of a team in team sports.) A student who qualifies for a 2-year championship during the term in which the student completes the course of study with that institution and goes to a 4-year institution the following term, shall have the opportunity to choose to either attend the championship with the 2-year school or play with the 4-year institution.

Q. A player transfers to an institution which has previously qualified through state and regional play for a national tournament. Is the student eligible?

A. No. The player was not a member of the team when it qualified.

12. Each student must have had a medical examination within the year of participation, preferably immediately prior to participation in the sport. Participation for medical considerations includes conditioning, practice and competition.

Q. If a student had a physical examination in April, 1975, must the student have a physical examination in November, 1975, prior to the basketball season?

A. No. However, an examination immediately prior to participation is recommended.

B. JUNIOR/COMMUNITY COLLEGE ELIGIBILITY RULE - EXCEPTIONS

Note: Section A applies to all AIAW member institutions including JC/CC schools and the following are exceptions applicable only to JC/CC students.

1. Only a woman student who is presently enrolled as an undergraduate in a JC/CC and who maintains the academic average and credits required for participation in all other major campus activities at her institution shall be eligible to participate.

2. A returning JC/CC student-athlete must be making normal progress as defined by the institution in an established degree or certified program in terms of credit hours and grades for a student in that institution to be eligible.

3. A student may not participate in any given sport more than three times. Furthermore the student may not have participated in more than three intercollegiate seasons and remain eligible for the JC/CC National Championship in that sport.

C. VERIFICATION OF ELIGIBILITY

1. Responsibility for checking and verifying the participant's eligibility for AIAW national championships rests with the administrator responsible for the women's intercollegiate program of the participating individual's entry. The signature of this administrator on the affidavit of eligibility (see page 81) indicates (a) a knowledge of the eligibility rules, (b) that careful scrutiny of all items pertaining to each participant's eligibility has taken place and (c) that each participant meets the requirements of eligibility.

2. Participation in national championships will be denied to an entrant whose institution fails to completely verify her eligibility.

3. Failure to comply with procedures for verification of eligibility will result in the disqualification of that institution's entry into that championship.

4. A protest of any institution's verified entry must be lodged by an identifiable representative of an AIAW member institution and be accompanied by substantiating evidence presented by the protesting party at the time the protest is lodged. (See Rule Infractions, pages 59-62.)

5. Any institution disqualified for failure to comply with eligibility requirements shall have the right to appeal the ruling.

POLICIES FOR AIAW INSTITUTIONS AND PROCEDURES FOR NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIPS

AIAW policies are applicable to all AIAW member institutions.

Nothing in any AIAW Regulations shall be interpreted to be contrary to any applicable law or Federal policy. In the event that a question pertaining to such interpretation shall be raised, it shall be submitted to the AIAW Executive Board for final decision.

AIAW encourages participation in international competition by athletes enrolled at AIAW member institutions. When participation on an international team affects the student's eligibility for AIAW events, the student may appeal to the Ethics and Eligibility Committee for leniency. The appeal cases will be considered individually.

Eligible AIAW junior/community college member institutions shall participate only in AIAW JC/CC National Championships. If a JC/CC National Championship is not available in that sport, the eligible JC/CC member institution may participate in the appropriate four-year National Championship.

A. INTERPRETATIONS AND REFERRALS PROCEDURES

1. All inquiries, requests for waiver of AIAW rules or appeals concerning policies and regulations including eligibility for national championships and regional qualifying meets for national championships shall be referred to the Ethics and Eligibility Committee Chairperson. Appeals concerning a school's membership should be directed to the President of AIAW.

2. Request for interpretations or decisions regarding eligibility should be filed on the appropriate form and signed by the voting representative, athletic director and the coach involved.

3. AIAW members shall refer any business or policy action on ethics and eligibility to the Ethics and Eligibility Committee for summary and review. Subsequent action will be taken by the AIAW Executive Board and then referral will be made to the Delegate Assembly.

3. Contact for approval of filming at AIAW Championships must be made through the commissioner of national championships.

F. RESEARCH

1. There is real concern for research in intercollegiate athletics for women and the Association would like to facilitate scientific investigations in this field whenever feasible. However, since AIAW national championships are held to meet the needs of highly skilled competitors, research procedures which are not in the best interest of the competitors will not be approved. It is also recognized that the time, place, and conditions of the national championship events may not be the best in which to evaluate the psychological or social processes which contribute to an individual's athletic success within this framework.

The following procedures will be used for all requests to conduct research during national championships:

a. Six (6) copies of the research proposal must be submitted to the commissioner of national championships at least ninety (90) days in advance of the opening of the championship event.

b. The commissioner will review the proposal and if generally acceptable, will forward within one week one (1) copy of the proposal to the meet director and, four (4) copies of the proposal to the NAGWS research chairperson.

c. The meet director should approve or disapprove the proposal based upon the feasibility of conducting the research at the championship site and return this decision to the commissioner within two weeks.

d. The proposal must include the following information and meet the following criteria:

(1) purposes or objectives of the research are clearly stated

(2) pertinent literature is given

(3) methods and procedures are detailed and study is well-designed

(4) testing instruments are included

(5) significance of the project is presented

(6) evidence is given that the research will not adversely affect the tournament and/or participants.

(7) human rights code is not violated

(8) source of funding is given and any obligations to funding sources are specified

(9) student research proposals include the name of the professor under whose direction the research will be done

(10) specific time, space and other needs at the site of the championship event must be cited.

(11) sample letter to be sent to subjects if proposal is approved should be included

(12) particular reserach must actually need to be done at a national championship.

The NAGWS research chairperson reviews the proposal and if complete, and generally acceptable, forwards the proposal to three (3) members of a review committee. If the proposal is generally acceptable but incomplete, the research chairperson returns the proposal to the applicant for completion. A copy of the letter to the applicant citing the needed information should be sent to the commissioner.

If the proposal fails unquestionably to meet the criteria for proposals, the research chairperson states the inadequacies in the proposal and sends a letter of disapproval to the commissioner who informs the applicant and the meet director.

e. The NAGWS research chairperson selects three (3) members of the review committee who should be specialists in the area of research covered in the proposal. The members of the review committee will submit independently their decisions to the research chairperson within a one (1) month period. If the proposal is rejected, reasons for rejection should be listed.

f. The research chairperson communicates the results of the evaluations to the commissioner.

g. The commissioner on the basis of the decisions of the meet director and the research chairperson shall approve or disapprove the research proposal and inform the applicant of the decision. Copies of the letter to the applicant should be sent to the meet director, research chairperson, and members of the review committee.

h. If permission to conduct the research is granted, the researcher must obtain approval for testing from the coach and individual participants prior to their arrival at the championship site.

i. If the research is granted, a copy of the results must be submitted to the commissioner and the research chairperson immediately at the conclusion of the research.

G. BIDDING FOR CHAMPIONSHIPS

The site for the AIAW championships will be rotated through a regional schedule. (This schedule is included in the appendix.) Schools from other regions may bid for hosting a championship at any time in the event that a site cannot be found within the region scheduled.

1. Any AIAW member school interested in submitting a bid to hold a national championship should:

   a. Discuss the matter with the leadership personnel who will be concerned with conducting the event: departmental staff, the chairperson or head of the women's physical education department, the dean or chairperson of the division or school, the athletic director, and the president of the institution.

   b. Determine the school's specific leadership personnel for a meet director and the director's willingness to serve on the AIAW sport committee, if selected, as future, present and past meet director. Commit the school or the individual to the funds necessary to attend the championship for the required years and to serve on the committee for this time.

   c. Check availability and condition of facilities, including housing accomodations in the community. For dates specified in the schedule for AIAW national championships, see page 69.

   d. Discuss the amount of financial backing needed and available from the physical education department, school, and community.

   e. Submit a bid requesting consideration as a site for a championship to the commissioner of national championships which includes:

      (1) Verification of the fact that the facilities are available for the date specified by the AIAW schedule of national championships; they are:

      Volleyball--2nd weekend prior to Christmas
      Badminton--1st weekend in March
      Swimming and Diving--3rd weekend in March
      Basketball--4th weekend in March
      Gymnastics--1st weekend in April
      Track and Field--3rd weekend in May Golf--3rd weekend in June.

      (See pages 11-13 for 1975-76 schedule.)

      (2) Scope and description of all facilities available to the participants, including activity areas, housing, eating transportation, and practice.

      (3) The number of participants who can be handled at any one time during competition.

      (4) The number and qualifications of officials available.

POSITION PAPER ON INTERCOLLEGIATE ATHLETICS FOR WOMEN

Approved May 1974

We believe sport is an important aspect of our culture and a fertile field for learning. The sense of enjoyment, self confidence and physical well being derived from demanding one's best performance in a sport situation is a meaningful experience for the athlete. These inner satisfactions are the fundamental motivation for participation in sports. Therefore, programs in an educational setting should have these benefits as primary goals.

In keeping with this belief, the following program elements are vitally important:

1. The enrichment of the life of the participant is the focus and reason for the existence of any athletic program. All decisions should be made with this fact in mind.

2. The participants in athletic programs, including player, coaches, and support personnel, should have access to and representation on the policy making group on campus and in sport governing organizations.

3. Adequate funding is necessary to provide a comprehensive program. Sufficient funds should be provided for (a) a broad spectrum of sports experiences; (b) a variety of levels of competitive experiences; (c) travel using licensed carriers; (d) appropriate housing and food; (e) rated officials: (f) well trained coaches; (g) equipment, supplies, and facilities which aid performance and appeal to the aesthetic aspects of sport; (h) competent staff for administering and publicizing the program (i) qualified medical and training personnel; (j) and regular opportunities for social interaction with opponents.

4. Careful consideration is needed for scheduling practice sessions and games. The athletic schedule should ensure sufficient time to gain personal satisfaction from skill achievement, but should not deny the student the time to participate in other activities. Factors to be considered include: (a) equitable competition on all levels; (b) adequate pre-season conditioning; (c) appropriate spacing and length of practice sessions; (d) sufficient number of events in each sport; and (e) comparable length of seasons between sports.

5. Separate but comparable teams should be provided for women and men. In addition to separate teams, intercollegiate co-educational teams comprised of an equal number of women and men competing on opposing teams are desirable in those sports in which such teams are appropriate.

6. Athletic ability is one of the talents which can be considered in the awarding of financial aid to students. However, students should be free to choose the institution on the basis of curriculum and program. Staff time and effort should be devoted to the comprehensive program rather than to recruiting efforts.

POSITION STATEMENT

WOMEN ON MEN'S TEAMS

AIAW and the National Association for Girls and Women in Sport subscribe to the belief that teams for girls and women should be provided for all girls and women who desire competitive athletic experiences. While positive experiences for the exceptional girl or woman competitor may occur through participation in boys or men's competitive groups, these instances are and should be judged acceptable only as an interim procedure for use until women's programs can be initiated.

DEVELOPMENT OF LOCAL ORGANIZATIONS

As opportunities for quality competitive experiences for college women continue to develop, the need for establishing policies and procedures at the local level also grows. Many colleges and universities have formed local organizations to direct the growth of athletics for women in their area, to establish policies of operation for scheduling contests, and to deal with problems as they arise.

Other groups considering the desirability of establishing a governing organization might find the following suggestions helpful:

1. Meet with representatives in institutions in your area to discuss needs, purposes, and possible directions. Such a meeting could be held in conjunction with another scheduled meeting.

2. Obtain materials from comparable groups already organized either by writing directly to organizations or to the regional representative.

3. Select a committee to write a flexible operating code.

4. Determine what financial structure, if any, is most desirable for your area.

Many areas with traditional competitive boundaries have been able to function effectively without a formal structure. No pressure for the development of such a local organization should be felt by institutions until an organization becomes necessary to exert guidance and control at the local level. Further information can be obtained from the regional representative or from the president-elect.

PROCEDURES FOR CHANGING REGIONS

Schools bordering on another region may wish to petition for a change of regional assignment. This assignment would be effective for all sports for that school. Such a relocation, if made, would be for a minimum of a three-year period. Procedures for requesting a relocation would involve the following:

1. The individual school must sent a letter of request signed by the department chairperson to the representative of the region with which the school wishes to affiliate. Carbon copies of this letter are to be sent to the regional representative of the region currently assigned and to the AIAW national office. If joining a state association or other governing group is a pre-requisite, approval to do so must have been received prior to petitioning for change in regional affiliation.

2. This petition shall be acted upon by the regional governing group.

3. The decision of the regional governing group is to be sent to the school involved. Carbon copies of this decision are to be sent to the state or other governing groups involved, the regional representative of the region to which the school was originally assigned, and to the AIAW national office.
